DETAILED ACTION

Status of the Claims

1. This action is in response to papers filed 14 November 2007 in which claims 1, 3, 13 were amended and a Declaration under 37 C.F.R. § 1.132 was submitted.

The amendments have been thoroughly reviewed and entered. The Declaration has been thoroughly reviewed. The Declaration in combination with the amendments is found sufficient to overcome the previous rejection under 35 U.S.C. 112, First Paragraph, Scope of Enablement.

The previous rejection under obviousness-type double patenting is maintained and made final.

Claims 1-13 are under prosecution.

Information Disclosure Statement

2. The Okamoto reference listed on the IDS has been reviewed. An initialed copy of the 1449 is enclosed with this action. Okamoto teaches inkjet deposition of DNA solutions onto a support, DNA solutions each having a different concentration of DNA (Example 3). Okamoto deposits the first concentration then recovers the spotted material to measure the amount of DNA contained within the spot and then compares the measured amount to a theoretical amount based on DNA concentration. Okamoto repeats this, deposition, recovery, measuring and comparison for each concentration of DNA. Okamoto does not deposit multiple concentrations onto a single support and hence does not teach a support having spots of different concentration. Furthermore, the reference would not suggest making such an array of spots as instantly claimed.

Double Patenting

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

4. Claims 1-13 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-13 of U.S. Patent No. 6,753,144. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both sets of claims are drawn to a biochip having spots of differing spot size or spot concentration. The claim sets merely differ in that the patent claims define the spotted material as "DNA" (a species) while the instant claims define the material as capture material (a genus).

The courts have stated that a genus is obvious in view of the teaching of a species see Slayter, 276 F.2d 408, 411, 125 USPQ 345, 347 (CCPA 1960); and In re Gosteli, 872 F.2d 1008, 10 USPQ2d 1614 (Fed. Cir. 1989). Therefore the instantly claimed capture material is obvious in view of the patent DNA.

5. The above rejection is reiterated from the previous office actions. Applicant has not traversed the rejection. The rejection is maintained and made Final.

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Conclusion

7. No claim is allowed.
